Market Commentary and Outlook

The global economy is forecast to expand this year and in 2026 at close to its long-term trend rate, according to the latest estimates provided by the International Monetary Fund (IMF), with growth forecast to be 3.3% in 2026 and 3.2% in 2027. The IMF notes the ‘balancing of divergent forces’ with ‘headwinds from shifting trade policies’ being ‘offset by tailwinds from surging investment related to technology, including artificial intelligence (AI), more so in North America and Asia than in other regions, as well as fiscal and monetary support, broadly accommodative financial conditions, and adaptability of the private sector’. Growth in advanced economies is forecast to be 1.8% in 2026, above the estimate for 2025, but with risks remaining ‘tilted to the downside’.

The broad US stock market (S&P 500 Accumulation Index) has been on an uptrend since early April 2025, gaining 1.5% in January. The Australian market (ASX 200 Accumulation Index) gained 1.8% over the month. The Australian dollar gained 4.3% relative to the US dollar in the same period. Commodity prices were mixed with lithium, copper, gold and oil posting gains, while natural gas and iron ore declined.

Key global share markets have been ‘pricing-in’ a shift by central banks towards less restrictive monetary policy, despite signs of inflation rising again in some economies. However, share markets are likely to remain volatile given current ongoing geopolitical tensions.

Fund Commentary

The Fiducian Australian Shares Fund returned 2.1% in January, which was above the 1.7% return for the index. The best performing managers for the month were L1 Capital (+7.8%), followed by Ausbil (+2.4%). Over the last 12 months, L1 Capital (+26.3%) and Solaris (+7.9%) were the best performers.

The broad Australian share market (ASX 200 Accumulation Index) gained 1.8% over the month. The RBA had cut interest rates three times by August 2025. However, the RBA’s preferred measure for inflation (the ‘trimmed mean’ rate) jumped up to 3.3% in December, above its target range of 2% to 3%, and so raised rates again at its 3 February meeting.

Over the month, Energy (+10.6%) and Materials (+9.5%) were the best performing sectors, while Information Technology (-9.4%) and Listed Property (-2.7%) were the worst performing sectors.

At an aggregate level, the largest sectoral tilts in the Fund is an underweight to Financials, primarily in Listed Property Trusts, and overweight positions in the Materials and Industrials and Telecommunications sectors.
